

Eleanor H. Porter

Just David

By Eleanor H. Porter

David and his father set out from their idyllic mountain home to go to meet family, but enroute, David's father, who is sick dies, and David is left stranded in a little farming town. No one can read his father's handwriting on the notes he's left for David or his signature, and David doesn't know his last name.

A stern farmer and his wife take David in, and learn more from him than they realize! David, who counts only the sunny hours of his life, soon touches all the people's lives he meets in his new life with his beautiful violin music and sunny disposition.
(Summary by Mary Anderson)

Eleanor H. Porter

Read by Mary Anderson

Total running time: 06:49:54

This recording is in the public domain and may be reproduced, distributed, or modified without permission. For more information or to volunteer, visit librivox.org.

Cover picture from the original book. Cover design by Maria Therese. This design is in the public domain.

Just David

LibriVox

Just David